SMILE WHENEVER YOU CAN.

When things don't go to suit you,
And the world seems upside down,
Don't waste your time in fretting
But drive away that frown;
Since life is oft perplexing,
'Tis much the wisest plan,
To bear all trials bravely,
And smile whenever you can.

Why should you dread to-morrow,
And thus despoil to-day?
For when you borrow trouble,
You must expect to pay;
It is a good old maxim,
Which should be often preached—Don't cross the bridge before you Until the bridge is reached.

You might be spared much sighing
If you would bear in mind
The thought that good and evil
Are always here combined.
And though you roll in wealth,
You miss from out your pocket,
That precious jewel—health.

And though you're strong and sturdy
You may have an empty purse—
And earth has many trials,
Which I consider worse;
But whether joy or sorrow
Fill up your mortal span,
'Twill make your pathway brighter
To smile whenever you can.

BACHELOR'S HALL.

BY MRS. JAMES.

"No rest for the wicked, Ned!"
said Charley Warner to his friend and fellow adviser. "The hotel is full, the boarding-houses are packed, why, they stay away thirteen in a bed down at Burns', that rickety looking frame house you see yonder."

"Thirteen! why, that's too thick to thrive. I say, Charley, don't you draw on your imagination for at least ten of those sleepers?"

"Not a bit of it; they are all bona fide flesh and blood, young men seeking their fortunes in the great West, and bent on making Kansas a free state, I suppose; but mind ye, I don't say bedstead, that happens to be the floor."

"Well, I for one, am not fond of amalgamation. Haven't we got a tent stowed away somewhere that we intend to go buffalo hunting with?"
